BRAND GUIDELINES

BHUTAN ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION CENTRE

ORGANISATIONAL HISTORY

Founded in 2018, the Bhutan ADR Centre was conceived to improve access to justice and foster less adversarial methods of dispute resolution. Since its inception, the Centre has evolved from a case administration office into a national platform for professional training, policy development, and legal reform. By 2026, the Centre had successfully administered over 315 cases, including its first international arbitration case in 2025, marking a significant milestone in Bhutanese legal history.

LOGO

Logo Mark | Primary Logo

Logo Mark 1

This is the full BADRC emblem. A magpie, shown calm and upright with its head lifted, sits at the centre of a blue ring. The four elements surround it. Clouds represent Air, rolling waves below represent Water, a golden spiral Norbu with a flame at its heart represents Earth, and four crimson curved strips represent Fire. The elements are drawn in a traditional Bhutanese style, so the mark feels rooted in Bhutan while staying clean and contemporary.

Why it is the right mark for BADRC

The magpie, simplified: The raised head and open beak suggest someone speaking and listening, which reflects “Mindful Dialogue.”

Negative space: The bird is formed from open space, which suggests transparency and neutrality.

The gradient: Gold, red and blue flow into one another, showing opposing positions coming together.

Versatile: It stays clear at small sizes, such as an app icon, favicon, social avatar or stamp.

Modern: It reflects BADRC’s growth into a national and international platform.

Logo Mark 2

This is a bold, modern simplification of the same idea. The magpie's head and beak appear as white negative space inside a rounded, solid form that also echoes the letter "D". A single gradient runs through it, from warm gold through fiery red to a clear blue, so the colours of Earth, Fire and Water/Air flow into one another.

Why it is the right mark for BADRC

The magpie, simplified: The raised head and open beak read as speaking and listening, fitting "Mindful Dialogue."

Negative space: The bird is formed from open space, suggesting openness and transparency.

The gradient: Colours blend into one another, showing opposing positions becoming one.

Versatile: It stays clear at any size, from an app icon to a stamp.
Modern: It suits an institution growing into a national and international platform.

Primary Logo

A calm magpie sits at the centre of a blue ring, surrounded by the four elements: clouds (Air), waves (Water), a golden Norbu (Earth) and four crimson strips (Fire). Dzongkha and English lettering follow the curve of the seal. Traditional Bhutanese forms are drawn with clean lines for a modern, credible look.

Why it is the right mark for BADRC

The magpie: It stands for peace, integrity, neutrality and intelligence.

The four elements: Their balance reflects “peace, harmony, and justice.”

The Norbu and flame: They suggest wisdom and compassion at the core.

Bilingual lettering: Dzongkha and English show national roots and international reach.

The circular seal: It conveys authority and completeness, and suits official documents.

LOGO VARIATIONS

Logo Variations | Logo Usage | Backgrounds

LOGO VARIATIONS

BADRC's identity comes in five versions, each made for a different space and purpose. Use the version that suits the application, and never alter its colours, proportions or elements.

Primary Logo

The complete BADRC seal in full colour, with the magpie, the four elements and the bilingual Dzongkha and English lettering.

Usage

Use it where the full seal can be shown prominently, such as signage, stickers, diaries, merchandise, banners and promotional materials.

Logo Mark

A modern magpie mark formed in negative space, with a gold-to-red-to-blue gradient. It is the simplified, compact form of the BADRC identity.

Usage

Use it where space is limited, such as website icons (favicon), app icons, social media profile pictures, watermarks and digital interfaces.

Horizontal Logo

The BADRC emblem paired with the Dzongkha line and the bold BADRC wordmark in a wide, balanced layout.

Usage

Use it where width is available and a compact, clear identity is needed, such as certificates, email signatures, website headers, presentations and reports.

Vertical Mark

The BADRC emblem stacked above the Dzongkha line and the bold BADRC wordmark in a compact, centred layout.

Usage

Use it where height is available or a square or portrait space is needed, such as social media posts, banners, brochures, publication covers, posters and presentation title slides.

Wordmark Logo

The BADRC wordmark with the magpie mark built into the letter “D”, set beneath the Dzongkha line.

Usage

Use it for formal documents and correspondence, such as letterheads, certificates, reports, official forms and publications.

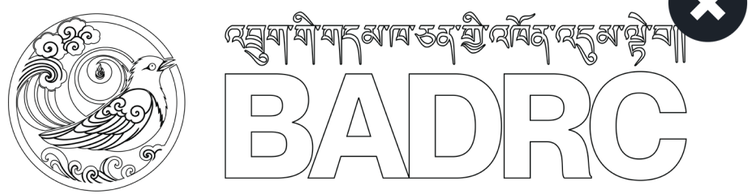

LOGO USAGE

This section explains how to use the BADRC logo correctly so that it looks consistent and professional everywhere. Follow these rules for clear space, size, colour and placement.

BACKGROUNDS

The BADRC logo comes in three background versions so it stays clear and consistent on any surface. Always use the version supplied, and never change its colours or proportions.

LOGO CONSTRUCTION BLUEPRINT

Logo Variations | Logo Usage | Backgrounds

GEOMETRY OF THE LOGO

The BADRC logos are built on a structured geometry of circles, axes and golden circles. The circular grid keeps every element centred and balanced, while the golden circles guide the spiral, the curves of the magpie and the flow between the four elements. This blueprint shows how each logo is constructed, so it can be reproduced accurately and consistently at any size and in any application.

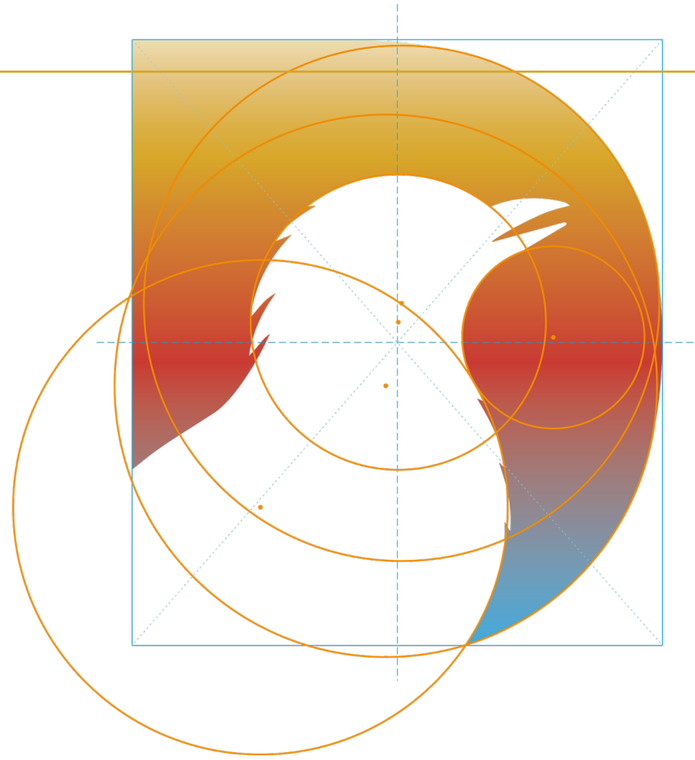

Primary Emblem Construction

The emblem is drawn within one outer ring and centred on crossing axes. The golden circles shape the spiral Norbu and set the position of the magpie and the four elements.

Logo Mark Construction

The mark’s flowing curves are guided by a series of overlapping golden circles. They form the outer arc, the head and the chest of the magpie, with the bird shaped in negative space.

Horizontal Logo Construction

The emblem is aligned with the Dzongkha line and the BADRC wordmark on shared guides. The guides fix the spacing and keep the icon and text in balance.

COLOUR PALETTE & SYMBOLISM

Brand Colour | Primary Colour | Secondary Colour | Gradients

BRAND COLOUR

Colour is one of the most immediate expressions of BADRC's identity. The BADRC colour palette has been carefully selected to reflect the organisation's values of trust, authority, and cultural rootedness, drawing from the rich visual traditions of Bhutan while maintaining a professional and modern presence.

Royal Navy	Deep Slate	Crimson
Ocean Blue	Steel Midnight	Golden Amber

PRIMARY COLOUR

The foundation of the BADRC identity, used across all core communications, logos, and official materials.

Royal Navy

A deep, commanding blue with a strong violet undertone, conveying institutional presence and visual weight.

Symbolism

Authority, trust, and institutional strength, echoing Bhutan's formal and ceremonial blue traditions.

Usage

Primary brand colour; logo, headings, key UI elements, official documents and stationery.

Deep Slate

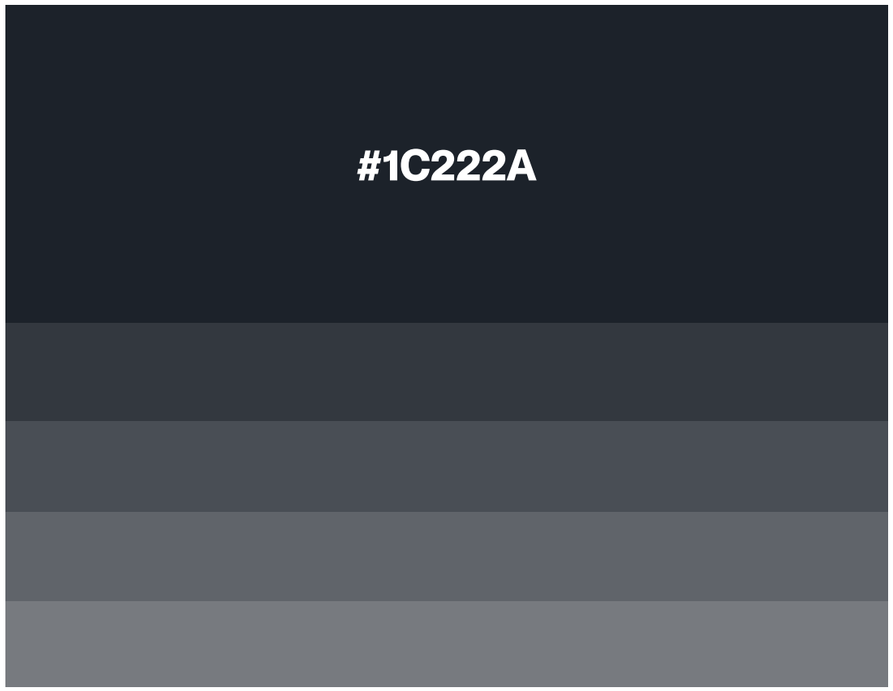

A near-black with cool dark undertones, refined, grounded, and versatile across all formats.

Symbolism

Depth, professionalism, and gravitas, grounding the identity with quiet confidence.

Usage

Body text, footers, dark backgrounds, print base, and dark-mode interfaces.

Crimson

A bold, warm red with controlled saturation, striking without being aggressive, rooted in Bhutanese ceremonial tradition.

Symbolism

Authority, trust, and institutional strength, echoing Bhutan's formal and ceremonial blue traditions.

Usage

Logo accent, calls-to-action, section dividers, alert states, and visual highlights.

SECONDARY COLOUR

Supportive tones that add warmth, depth, and cultural richness, used to complement the primaries.

Ocean Blue

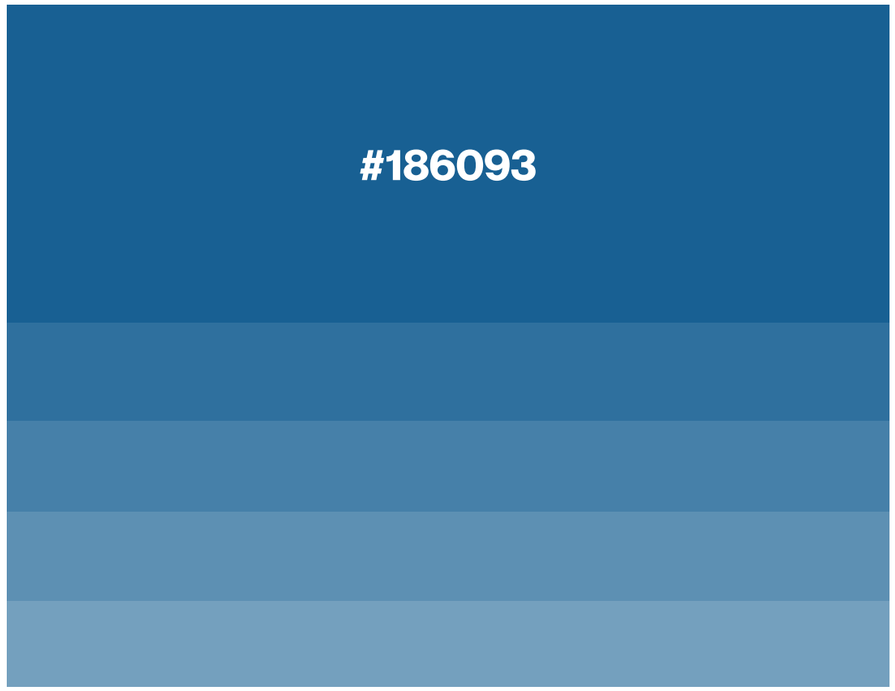

A mid-tone blue with clarity and openness, lighter and more communicative than the primary navy.

Symbolism

Clarity, dialogue, and open communication, the spirit of mediation, resolution, and balanced discourse.

Usage

Subheadings, infographics, supporting UI elements, hyperlinks, and data charts.

Steel Midnight

A dark teal-blue sitting between navy and ocean blue, measured, intelligent, and structurally supportive.

Symbolism

Steadiness, wisdom, and the measured judgment required in dispute resolution and legal facilitation.

Usage

Sidebar and panel backgrounds, secondary text blocks, supporting layout elements.

Golden Amber

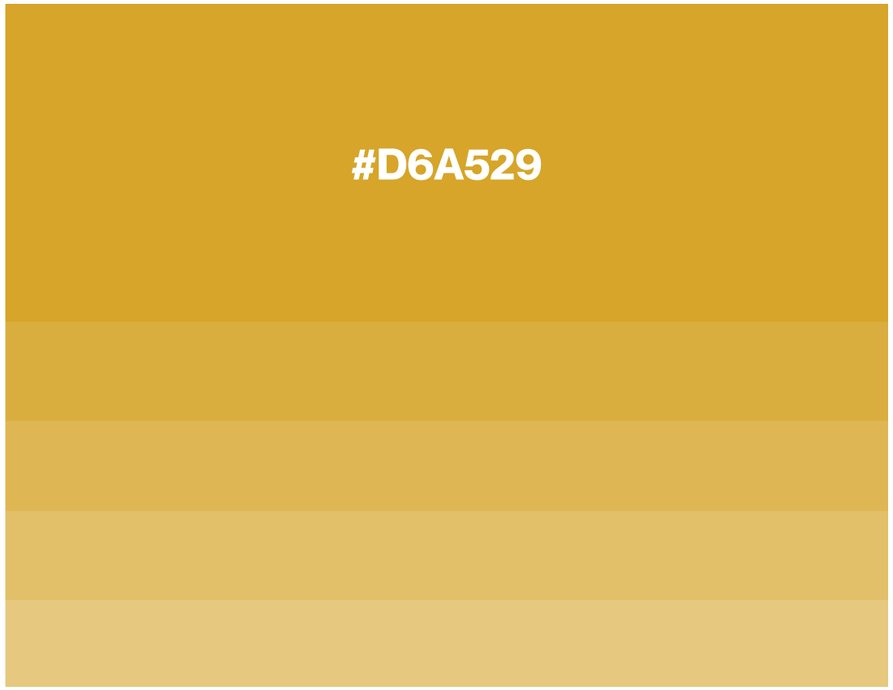

A warm, luminous gold with rich amber depth, the most culturally distinctive colour in the palette.

Symbolism

Prosperity, enlightenment, and the sacred flame of Bhutanese heritage, representing wisdom and the light of resolution.

Usage

Decorative accents, icon highlights, award certificates, premium print materials, and ceremonial documents.

GRADIENTS

Three carefully selected gradient combinations that reflect BADRC's identity, peace, harmony, wisdom and a forward-looking future. These gradients are designed for daily use across digital and print platforms, ensuring consistency, clarity and a refined, professional look.

Ocean Sky Gradient

A smooth transition from deep navy to ocean blue, symbolising stability, trust and open dialogue.

Symbolism

Calm • Trust • Professional
